

As most of you know by now, the Berkeley-East Bay Humane Society suffered a terrible loss on the morning of May 20. A major fire destroyed a large section of the shelter, claiming the entire cat sheltering area as well as laundry facilities and offices. Tragically, 15 of their beautiful cats succumbed to smoke inhalation in the adoption area. All 14 of the dogs survived, along with 10 other cats in areas less affected by the fire. All survivors are expected to recover fully.

My Name is Shea Cox, and I am one of the emergency veterinarians at PETS Referral Center, the hospital that triaged and cared for the rescued animals the night of the fire. I also have a passion for painting, especially 'up-close and personal' dog faces. After this devastating tragedy and loss, I wanted to extend an "offer" to help encourage donations for rebuilding this amazing organization that does so much for our community. Please donate for a chance to have me paint your pet, or, if you are unable to donate, please help to spread the word by passing along this offer and site!
